

General Critique of the Design

November Group:

- They have simple error messages, but no clear plan to try reconnecting many times if something goes wrong.
- They do not mention what happens after a game is over (no post conditions).
- They also do not give details on how to secure the data when playing online.